Writing

I think it is important to practise sports regularly when you are in your teens. We all can agree that sports play an important role in our lives.

Teenagers care about their health a lot. Fitness and different kinds of sports help us to improve our health. Doctors say that physical activities are good for us because they help our organisms to function right. Sports also can prevent developing illnesses, make our immune system stronger. People who practise sports regularly tend to live longer lives than people who have less physical activity. 92

Sports also can help teens to have a more interesting social life. ~~When~~ Joining different sport clubs, going to the gym gives us opportunity to meet more people, to communicate with teens who have similar interests. We make our friendships stronger, form closer bonds with our friends. Also we visit sport games and ~~that~~ contests together which gives us more topics to discuss. 153

Taking part in different sport contests can also be useful for teens. As teenagers we think about our future a lot. That is why participating in these kinds of sport olympiads, competitions, matches helps us to receive different diplomas and achievements. We can use these achievements to apply to our dream universities, colleges. Also our parents will be very proud of us. 215

In conclusion, I want to say that sports really are important for teens. Practise ~~more~~ sports more if you are still a teenager, you will not regret it in future!
