importance of One issue which causes a wide controversy is practising a sport regularly when you are a teenager. Some people think that sport can make us healthier either physically, or mentally. Let us examine this problem more closely.

In my opinion, (every) (teenager should practise) practising a sport is a significant part of teenager's life. At first, if we do some sport ^{exercises} daily in the morning, it can help us to feel better and to avoid headaches during future day. Moreover, it can help us to overcome socialisation. At third, it can give us pleasure. Besides, it helps us to keep fit.

On the contrary, sport can do harm to a teenager. If a teenager hero-worships any sportsman, it can lead to a fanatic desire to become a great sportsman too. In this case, a teenager may do too much to fulfil this dream. By the way, teenagers also should study at school and prefer knowledge to sport. So, it can be harmful then, when a teenager has a serious attitude to sport.

In conclusion, I strongly believe that practising a sport is a very important part of teenagers' lives. A teenager just should find a happy medium between school and sport.
