Elderly people who live alone can be monitored by the new technology that analyses household sounds to ensure their safety. I think that is a very good idea to monitor for elderly people because they have a lot of illnesses but new technology can provide their safety. On the TV we can see a lot of occasions when people are suffering and nobody can help them. The new technology can help us to know about their health. As for me it is one of the most necessary invention. It is enormous push in future wish let us to care about health and immunity.
