Writing

Every person should be taken care of. From his childhood till his death.

There is no person who ^{doesn't} need support and care.

I think elderly people who live alone should be taken care of because they can't earn money for their living. In this age they need money to buy some medicine, food and etc.

Elderly people can be learnt to use new technology. But it will take much time before they will know how to do something. It is a good idea because elderly people can keep in touch with their family. If they have some problems with health new technology will help them. So, in conclusion, I can say that elderly people should be taken care of.
