Summer holidays is a favorite period for most students. I am sure every kid desire to have a long summer vacation to spend it for leisure activities. I suppose summer holidays must be a bit longer than now. Some people use this time for studying and preparing for the school year and absolutely forgetting about their own rest. As a result, during school year they have to force themselves to study and can lose their motivation. I have spent my summer this way and can definitely say that summer holidays are not enough to make this period useful and productive. It's obvious, spring and summer are the best seasons to spend them outside and there are a lot of children who play outdoors and go for a walk with friends. They prefer active life style during holidays. For instance, riding bikes, playing sport games, camping and holding picnic parties. Not only that, they also can study or do their hobbies during outside walks. It's better for health, than sitting in boring classrooms. Students have time for themselves, to develop their personalities and improve their skills in various aspects of life. From my point of view, making terms longer will not help students in their education. I suppose it will have the opposite result. Success need rest. After school day children are too tired and do not have any power even for their hobbies. Because of that they can lose motivation and desire for everything. That's unacceptable and can lead to serious problems.

In conclusion, I would like to add that even teachers will have more time for rest and preparing for a new school year. That is why I am strongly concerned that summer holidays must be longer.
